What is the organization's primary exempt purpose?
 Arizona Tech Investors (ATI) is an active community of accredited investors who meet regularly to review and analyze early-stage technology companies based in Arizona and the Greater Southwest Region.

Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. In a clear and concise manner, describe the services provided, the number of persons benefited, and other relevant information for each program title.

28 Arizona Tech Investors brings together selected growing innovative startup businesses with individuals who are interested in investing in such businesses. Each year, ATI screens hundreds of applicants, selects 12-20 to present their ideas and opportunities to the member-investors in 4-8 meetings per year. ATI also organizes follow up meetings for members to learn more about companies of interest to them. The companies obtain systematic feedback from members which enables them to improve their business operations and prospects thereby strengthening their ability to deliver products and services that solve heretofore unsolvable problems.
 (Grants $ 0) If this amount includes foreign grants, check here

29 ATI provides opportunities for men and women to learn about and to invest in early stage companies. Through collaborative analysis and dialogue members gain knowledge of the opportunities and the techniques of evaluation of new companies solving problems in novel ways. In addition, ATI provides educational programs to develop investors' capabilities, and arranges for interested members to provide mentoring to various companies.
 (Grants $ 0) If this amount includes foreign grants, check here

30 ATI's AZZ Fund acquires member investments in investment entities that invested in companies whose prospects were dim. In the highly unlikely event that any returns are made from these investments, the proceeds, net of expenses, are to be made as unrestricted gifts to the entrepreneurship programs at the three Arizona public universities.
